FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

12. On February 11, 2014, Mr. Vega was spending time with several friends inside an apartment at 453 Lincoln Ave, Brooklyn, NY. A friend of Mr. Vega's had been staying in the apartment for approximately one year with the permission of the building super and had invited Mr. Vega and other friends to the location on several prior occasions.

13. At approximately 8:30 PM, the defendant officers banged on the front door of the apartment and demanded entry. The resident of the apartment refused to open the door until the officers obtained a search warrant for the location. The officers threatened to shoot the door down. Eventually, the officers gained entry to the apartment through a window.

14. Mr. Vega was grabbed by the officers and thrown to the floor. He was repeatedly kicked and stomped in the head. One blow to the back of the head was so powerful that Mr. Vega was rendered unconscious. When he did regain consciousness he was in pool of blood and struggling to breathe.

15. After the first beating that rendered Mr. Vega unconscious, the officers repeatedly demanded to know who else was in the apartment. When Mr. Vega didn't respond, he was again kicked by the officers even though he was already handcuffed. Mr. Vega begged the officers to stop the assault.

16. Throughout the incident the apartment resident repeatedly told the officers that they could confirm he was living there by contacting the super. A first floor resident, after hearing the commotion, actually came upstairs with the super on the phone and handed the phone to the officers.

17. Mr. Vega and his belongings were searched. No illegal substances or contraband were found. The apartment was searched. No illegal substances or contraband were found.

18. Mr. Vega and the others were transferred to the 75th precinct. They were released twelve hours later with a Desk Appearance Ticket charging the misdemeanor offense of Trespass.

19. After his release, Mr. Vega sought medical treatment at Jamaica Hospital. He was diagnosed with head trauma and a broken nose.

20. At all times during the events described above, the defendant police officers were engaged in a joint venture and formed an agreement to violate plaintiff's rights. The individual officers assisted each other in performing the various actions described and lent their physical presence and support and the authority of their office to each other during said events. They failed to intervene in the obviously illegal actions of their fellow officers against plaintiff.

21. During all of the events above described, defendants acted maliciously and with intent to injure plaintiff.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

42 U.S.C. § 1983

23. The above paragraphs are here incorporated by reference.

24. Defendants acted under color of law and conspired to deprive plaintiff of his civil, constitutional and statutory rights to be free from unreasonable search and seizure, excessive force and to due process of law pursuant to the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution and are liable to plaintiff under 42 U.S.C. §1983.

25. Plaintiff has been damaged as a result of defendants' wrongful acts.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Assault and Battery

26. The above paragraphs are here incorporated by reference.

27. Upon approaching plaintiff, grabbing him, throwing him to the floor and striking him, defendants made plaintiff fear for his physical well-being and safety and placed him in apprehension of immediate harmful and offensive touching.

28. Defendants engaged in and subjected plaintiff to immediate harmful and offensive touching and battered him without his consent.

29. Defendants used excessive and unnecessary force with plaintiff.

30. Defendants, their officers, agents, servants and employees, were responsible for plaintiff's arrest, detention and imprisonment during this period of time. Defendant City, as employer of Officer Defendants, is responsible for their wrongdoing under the doctrine of respondeat superior.

31. As a direct and proximate result of the misconduct and the abuse of authority detailed above, plaintiff sustained the damages described above.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Municipal Liability 42 U.S.C. §1983

32. The above paragraphs are here incorporated by reference.

33. The City is liable for the damages suffered by plaintiff as a result of the conduct of their employees, agents, and servants, in that, after learning of their employees' violation of plaintiff's constitutional rights, they failed to remedy the wrong; they have created a policy or custom under which unconstitutional practices occurred and allowed such policies or customs to continue, and they have been grossly negligent in managing subordinates who caused the unlawful condition or event.

34. The City has been alerted to the regular use of excessive force and false arrests by its police officers, but has nevertheless exhibited deliberate indifference to such excessive force and false arrests; that deliberate indifference caused the violation of plaintiff's constitutional rights in this case.

35. The aforesaid event was not an isolated incident. The City has been aware for some time, from lawsuits, notices of claim, complaints filed with the Civilian Complaint Review Board, and judicial rulings suppressing evidence and finding officers incredible as a matter of law, that a disturbing number of his police officers use excessive force, unlawfully search and seize citizens, bring charges against citizens with no legal basis, perjure themselves in charging instruments and testimony, and fail to intervene in and report the obviously illegal actions of his fellow officers. Nevertheless, the City has allowed policies and practices that allow the aforementioned to persist.

36. For example, the well documented failures of the Civilian Complaint Review Board ("CCRB"), a City agency, to substantiate obviously meritorious citizen complaints have gone uncorrected. The CCRB regularly finds complainants lack credibility based on the fact that such complainants have also brought lawsuits to remedy the wrongs they have experienced, a practice that often results in not substantiating the most serious charges brought to them. In addition, the CCRB virtually never initiates their own findings of false statements against officers who have made false statements to the CCRB in their own defense, nor do they initiate findings that officers have failed to report their fellow officers' misconduct; thus, officers have no real incentive to come forward, or to testify truthfully at the CCRB. The CCRB has no enforcement mechanisms once making a finding against an officer; it can only make recommendations to the NYPD, once finding misconduct by an officer.

37. The NYPD, once receiving a substantiated complaint by the CCRB, fails to adequately discipline officers for misconduct. The NYPD Department Advocate, which is endowed with the responsibility of following up on substantiated CCRB charges, is understaffed and under-utilized. Furthermore, in the extraordinarily rare event that the CCRB substantiates a complaint and the Department Advocate proves the case in an internal trial against an officer, the police commissioner still maintains the power to reduce the discipline against such an officer, which Commissioner Kelly has done on many occasions.

38. Further, the City has no procedure to notify individual officers or his supervisors of unfavorable judicial review of his conduct. Without this notification, improper search and seizure practices and incredible testimony go uncorrected. Additionally, according to a report of the New York City Bar Association issued in 2000, the City has isolated his law department from the discipline of police officers, so that civil suits against police officers for actions taken in his capacity as police officers have no impact on the officers' careers, regardless of the outcome of the civil actions. Alan Hevesi, as New York City Comptroller, in 1999 reported that there was a "a total disconnect" between the settlements of even substantial civil claims and police department action against officers.

39. The City is aware that all of the aforementioned has resulted in violations of citizens' constitutional rights. Despite such notice, the City has failed to take corrective action. This failure and these policies caused the officers in the present case to violate plaintiff's civil rights, without fear of reprisal.

40. Plaintiff has been damaged as a result of the deliberate indifference of the City to the constitutional rights of the City's inhabitants.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff demands judgment against the defendants, jointly and severally, as follows:

- A. In favor of plaintiff in an amount to be determined by a jury for each of plaintiff's causes of action;
- B. Awarding plaintiff punitive damages in an amount to be determined by a jury;
- C. Awarding plaintiff reasonable attorneys' fees, costs and disbursements of this action; and
- D. Granting such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper.
